

Dear Law Fresher,

Congratulations on meeting the criteria for admission to the College. Each year, we ask incoming first year undergraduates to do some work prior to their arrival in Oxford at the start of October. This work is intended to provide an introduction to legal reasoning and legal writing. It's important to make a start early because the first year examinations ('Law Moderations') are at the end of the second term, in the first week of March. Academic work will be intensive from the moment you arrive!

There is one essay to write, which is explained in the document entitled 'Law first year vacation work 2019'. The document entitled 'Law first year 2019' contains some introductory reading. The other documents are cases and materials you will need to write the essay.

Enjoy the rest of your summer. We look forward to seeing you in October.

Best wishes,

Jonathan Turner
Career Development Fellow in Law

Eleni Katsampouka
Stipendiary Lecturer in Law

Joe Johnson
Non-stipendiary Lecturer in Law